Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

There are still 375,000 WPA pensioners on Uncle Sam's payrolls. Federal Works Administrator Fleming has directed state administrators, to reinterview and reclassify this manpower army to see, perchance, why they are not either in war industries or in the armed services. The WPA should have been discontinued the day after war was declared. But it was not. It still constitutes a huge leak in the U. S. Treasury and we suspect that the various administrators, including Fleming, are carefully nursing this wartime dodo to keep it and their jobs alive. While the world writhes in deadly battle, these parasites continue to suck tax money that should be spent in the war effort.

The war effort is attended by waste motion, wasted time, and wasted money in many fields. Confusion worse confounded emanates in Washington and overflows the country. We note 4,000 experienced miners have now been furloughed from the army to return to mining. Scores of Selective Service boards throughout the west examined the registration papers of these men, classified them, sent them into the army. They were physically examined, they were outfitted, and presumably most of them received army training. Now they are back again at their old jobs. Nobody in Washington apparently looked ahead or planned. The army was permitted to grow like Topsy, often at the expense of war industries, and the other armed services. Moreover the army authorities are now studying a plan to return older men to civilan life. More waste of time and money. Yet the president was the one who once advocated a planned economy for this country. If this was a national need in peace time, it is now a desperate need.

The American people have, perhaps, forgiven the catastrophe at Bataan, and the debacle at Corrigdor. The gallant and hard fighting boys, had to be sacrificed, if you like, in the national interest. There was no way of reinforcing them, sending supplies, and dealing effectively with Japs, at that time. If an attempt had been made to save them greater defeats would probably have resulted. That is the conclusion most thoughtul Americans undoubtedly reached. But if, after long planning and preparation the American troops are forced out of Guadacanal island and the Solomons, or fight a losing battle there will be a wrathul popular uproar such as this country has seldom experienced. The army and navy commands had better hold the Solomons. If they are not cooperating 100 per cent, they had better begin right now. Because we the people are satisfied that our boys have been and are doing their stuff according to the finest American traditions. We are proud of them no end. But we have yet to experience a thrill over their leadership.

This is not to take a pessimistic view of the situation in the Solomons. We merely note that our naval losses thus far have just about equalled those of the Japs, and it hurts our American pride that this is the case. When we think of what the Japs lack in the way of equipment, and how tough an assignment it must be for their naval and army supply to even approach the facilities we have for providing ships, planes, tanks and guns, there is nothing in the tale of losses to make us happy. What we want is leaders to do their jobs as well as the boys in squadron Eight did theirs in the Midway battle. So far we have not got them.

FALSE ALARM

The fire alarm at Washington Road and Coyote Street rang early yesterday morning. It was a false alarm and Hallowe'en pranksters were blamed by teh authorities.

Three Man Gold Mines To Continue

Despite the recent federal order closing non-strategic mines for the duration of the war, hundreds of gold miners in small lode mines and along the gold-bearing streams of California may be allowed to continue their operations, C. V. Averill of the state bureau of mines stated.

"Many operators of one, two and three man mines have come into the office recently to ask if the order restricts their operations." Averill stated. "Although there are other considerations, and no rule holds for all, many of them are exempted from the federal order and may continue to operate."

He pointed out that one clause of the order, which became effective October 15, specifically exempted small mines. The clause said:

"The provisions of this order shall not apply to any lode mine which produced 1200 tons or less of commercial ore in 1941, provided the rate of production of such mine after the issuance of the order, shall not exceed 100 tons per month, nor to any placer mine which treated less than 100 cubic yards of material in 1941, providing the rate of treatment shall not exceed 100 cubic yards per month.

"Several hundred people in the state can probably make their living in small gold mines—perhaps thousands when you consider the snipers who do placer mining along the rivers and turn over only a few yards a day," Averill said.

One man came into the office the other day, the local mining head said, and stated he and his two partners had sunk all of their money in a small mine not yet in operation. "It is quite possible," Averill continued, "that those three men will be able to continue their mine, operating it themselves, and not only save their investment but also make a fair profit."

WALTER CARLSON AND TEACHER WED IN RENO

Walter A. Carlson, county superintendent of schools, and Kathryn L. Hewitt, teacher of the Pleasant Valley school were married yesterday afternoon in Reno. The service was performed by the Rev. William K. Simpey. The bride's former home was in Yuba City. The announcement of the marriage came as a great surprise to friends of both Mr. and Mrs. Carlson. Walter Carlson is a member of the Rotary Club and of the American Legion. For some years he has been regarded as a confirmed bachelor.

SOLDIERS ENJOY ELKS PARTY

The Nevada City Lodge of Elks Saturday night gave what may be the first of many functions sponsored by local organizations for soldiers.

Approximately 100 soldiers from Camp Beale were present at the Elks party and there were nearly sufficient dancing partners for all.

All of the soldiers announced they had a fine time, giving encouragement for future activities in the behalf of the men in the armed forces.

LOS ANGELES COUPLE PURCHASE HOME IN WILLOW VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lucian of Los Angeles have purchased a ten acre tract of land from Wesley Davis of Willow Valley. They are practically through constructing an attractive new home on the property. The entrance to the property is via the Murchie road. The ground is situated from Deer Creek to the Tom Maguire and Echo Ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Lucian are musicians and will leave the first of the month for Southern California to remain until April.

Bursill Brothers Work Night And Day To Produce For Victory

"The government wants us to produce more for victory."

With that simple statement, William and Thomas Bursill explain why they work practically day and night in following out a program of production for victory.

The Bursill Brothers efforts during the past spring and summer assured a bountiful harvest of fruits and vegetables for the market this fall.

The Bursill Ranch in the Rough and Ready district is not large, nor is the soil different from thousands of acres of land lying unproductive. Adaptability and hard work produced results.

The Bursill Brothers crops this year included several hundred boxes of tomatoes, 700 boxes of yellow squash, 500 boxes of peaches, 250 boxes of cantaloupes, a large quantity of muscat and wine grapes, an expected 650 boxes of apples and scores of boxes of miscellaneous vegetables in addition to eggs and chicken fryers.

County Agricultural Commissioner L. G. Lageson cites the work of the Bursills as an example of what can be done with work and perseverance.

Agricultural Commissioner Lageson encouraged the Bursills after they purchased the Rough and Ready Ranch in 1936 and advised them on the care of a 450 tree apple orchard they planted. The trees, now five years old, are yielding quality and quantity fruit beyond expectations. Types of apples which are especially productive are Delicious, Winesap, Ortley, Newtown Pippins, Red Romes and Ben Davis.

Winter is coming, a time generally of rest for the farmers, but the Bursill Brothers intend to carry on. They are erecting a chicken house to accommodate 600 more laying hens. They say:

"We are going to need lots of eggs before this war is over."

20 WILL LEAVE HERE TOMORROW FOR U. S. ARMY

A group of 20 Nevada County men will leave for United States Army service tomorrow morning. The Neighbors of Woodcraft of Nevada City will entertain the departing soldiers, who were inducted two weeks ago after passing their final physical examination.

Those departing tomorrow are:

Louis H. Breckenridge, Raymond P. Dowd, Ernest H. Marks, Walter S. Hanson, Francis M. Heintze, Charles G. Brown, Howard V. Garner, Ray B. Wilde, Mathew C. Grigg, Archie H. Ramsey, Richard O. James, Roy L. Michael, Herbert M. Lewis, J. H. Lute, William W. Kilroy, Robert J. Brown, Stephen A. Little, Jr., Jack M. Aragon, Matt O. Eckola and Jack W. Hortshorn.

COUNTY SEEKS OLD AGE PENSION REIMBURSEMENT

The County of Nevada has started an action in the superior court here against Orpha Childers and Ralph Childers, seeking to compel the two local men to reimburse the county for the amount paid as old age pension money to their father, Jesse L. Childers.

The suit maintains that last September 4th the Board of Supervisors granted the request of the elder Childers for a pension. It was learned, however, by a subsequent investigation, that Orpha Childers earns $250 per month and Ralph Childers $340 per month, incomes which would enable them to adequately support their father.

Leaves For Modesto—

James Barry of this city, has departed for Modesto, where he will be associated with his brother in defense work.

NUMBER OF DEER SHOT IN TRUCKEE DISTRICT DROPS

Tabulation of deer kill records for the Truckee district of the Tahoe National Forest for the hunting season recently closed show that the number of deer killed and number of hunters on the district were both 75 per cent of the 1941 record, according to district ranger H. I. Snider.

While the first five days of the season featured a heavy concentration of hunters and during which time 60 per cent of the deer were killed, there was much less hunting than originally expected by many. More hunters than normal were expected from the coast region, where the season was closed, but in the final analysis that change in hunting effort did not materialize.

The average time spent hunting this year was about two days for each hunter, while in normal years the average hunter had spent approximately three days on his hunting trip, Snider states.

Only one fire during the deer hunting season on the Truckee district was caused by a hunter and the hunters responded to the ranger's call for held and put this one out in speedy fashion. Such cooperation by the hunters in preventing and suppressing fires has always been the rule. Snider believes that this cooperation has been a factor in the reduction of fires on the Tahoe National Forest with the resultant saving in timber, grazing and wildlife values.

FISHING SEASON CLOSES

Saturday marked the end of the fishing season for 1942. Several local anglers had good luck on the final day. Fishing picked up in the latter part of the season after a poor opening and as a general rule local fishermen considered the season a successful one.

Mrs. Charles Wyant of Richmond spent a few days at her home in Nevada City. Her husband and daughter are both engaged in war work in the bay area.

Don't Neglect to Vote Tomorrow

The following is from a letter to the Colfax Revord from Lieutenant Donald A. Graham of Auburn "Somewhere in Australia."

"I was sorry to read of your prediction of a light vote. People should realize that we didn't fight to hold Midway and that every day men are not battling mosquitos and mud and tropical storms that will deposit inches of ice on a plane in a few minutes, just to gain that territory."

"Some of these tropical, fever ridden islands aren't woth the cost of one training plane, but the finest young men of America and Australia are out here swatting mosquitos and Japs alike in order to PRESERVE THAT IDEAL OF LIFE WHICH GIVES EVERY MAN HIS CHANCE. And if there is a man or woman who can't spare ten minutes to cast an intelligent vote, then there are lots of pilots who would gladly give them a ride over the target. Maybe a few 88mm. 105mm, A. A. shells would convince them that voting isn't such a hard job."

Californians Cast Ballots Tomorrow

Tomorrow is general election day in California.

In Nevada County the polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. Already 963 of the more than 10,000 voters qualified to cast ballots in this county have registered their vote through the absentee method.

The governorship race is the most vital issue in tomorrow's election and as far as Nevada County voters are concerned, Earl Warren appears to have a tremendous edge over Incumbent Culbert Olson.

Two county offices are to be decided by the voters and much interest is shown in those two races.

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen is opposed on the ballot by Richard Hoskins of Grass Valley, bookkeeper or the Diamond Match Company.

The other contest is for assessor. Deputy Assessor Phil Scadden of Nevada City is opposed by Eben K. Smart of Grass Valley, until recently a license examiner for the state department of motor vehicles.

There are 18 amendments on the ballot and the majority of voters will probably follow newspaper recommendations.

CARL TOBIASSEN ASKS REELECTION ON RECORD

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen points to his record in the office during the past eight years in soliciting votes for his reelection tomorrow.

The incumbent believes this is no time to make a change in the office inasmuch as his force and himself are well qualified through training and experience to handle any situation which may arise.

"It is your interest to see that you and your children, your homes—everything you own is protected by men who know what they are doing," Sheriff Tobiassen reminds the voters. "This year, now, and in the coming war years you will be menaced by enemies from within as well as from off our shores. We need experienced men to cope with impending danger. Through FBI training, civilian defense training and experince in hunting criminals, my deputies and myself can offer you your best protection."

DAMAGE SUIT FILED AGAINST JAMES SNELL

William Haley of this city, father of Bernice Haley, has filed a suit in the superior court here against Attorney and Mrs. James Snell, asking a total of $7,738.91 damages for injuries suffered by Bernice when hit by an automobile operated by Snell.

The accident occurred last January 14th. The complaint sets forth that Bernice was permanently injured by the accident. A total of $7,500 general damages is asked and $238.91 for hospital and medical expenses.

Haley is represented by Attorney Frank G. Finnegan of Nevada City.

Great Pocahontas Guest of Ponemah and Ceanotha Councils

Ponemah Council of Nevada City will have the honor of being host to Great Pocahontas, Palma Black of Bakersfield, tonight. Her visit will be a joint visit to Ponemah Council of Nevada City and Ceanotha Council of Grass Valley. District Deputy, Lila Day, of Ponemah Council is in charge of arrangements for the evening, assisted by both the Grass Valley and Nevada City councils. Adoption of a class of palefaces from the two councils will be part of the program of tonight's meeting.

Caught in the Riffles

The news of the breaking up of the battleship Oregon for scrap beginning December 7 brings memories of the ship to several persons in Nevada City among them being H. P. Davis and E. Martine. Davis boarded the battleship at Key West, Florida, when it was on its way to Cuba in '98. Martine was residing in Portland when the Oregon was made a training ship and lay in the harbor at that city and he went board with others.

This ship is 10,288 ton capacity and made a 1800 mile nonstop trip before 1898 the run being from San Francisco to Acapulco, Mexico. When the Maine was blown up in the harbor of Havana on February 16, 1898 the Oregon was sent to Key West from Bremmerton, Washington to the scene of battle. The great ship was designed to go 15 knots an hour. War was declared April 21 and the Oregon reached Key West May 26 via Cape Horn. On July 3 it took part in the destruction of Spanish ships in a Cuban harbor, firing 1800 shots and only suffered slight damage when struck by a fragment of shell. The Oregon was nicknamed the Yankee Devil and Bull Dog of the navy.

Ellard Gates, a U. S. Army sergeant from an airport near Portland is spending a few days in Nevada City with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gates and other family members.

Mrs. E Martine received word Sunday her brother, Murray Pryor, who has been at Camp Roberts since June was commissioned a first lieutenant and called to Fort Barkley, Texas. It is expected his wife, who is with her parents in Woodland, will join him in December.

RECORD YOUR KEYS:

So says Recorder Nettell and staff at the court house at Nevada City, not in the nature of a public document, but in the nature of Patriotic Service.

A large container has been donated for this collection by the Empire Star Mines Company of Grass Valley, and is on duty in the lobby of the court house to receive you contribution.

While it is known that other key drive are under way for the same cause, still it is thought that many people visiting the seat of county government, will avail themselves of the opportunity to dispose of old keys or small locks that have accumulated around their various homes. Recorder Nettell says:

"Lets get behind one more key drive and try to fill this little bottle, which by the way is no infant. Price of admission to "Look See"—A Key.

"Come on folks filler up. How about a guessing contest when she's full. Yep' we're going to have that too. Going to be a prize? Sure."

"Mails" White was one of the Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., employees who won a $100 bond last week. The Empire-Star awarded twenty $100 bonds each month to men who participated in the company's bond purchasing plan. The drawing last keek was the final one because the Empire-Star properties are idle for the duration of the war. . . Carl Tobiassen, Jr. who enlisted in the Marines, is now a corporal. . . Jack Kemp, Standard Oil service station manager, enlisted in the Sea Bees and is expecting a call to the service at any time. Kemp is in the Naval Reserve

HALLOWE'EN PARTY SUCCESS

The Hallowe'en party given by the Nevada City Elementary Parent Teachers Association Friday night was enjoyed by several hundred local children and many adults as well.

The party was a success. It not only entertained the children but succeeded in keeping them off the streets, thus eliminating the possibility of their doing serious damage in the spirit of fun.

Store windows were marked by some of the younger children but the authorities and businessmen are thankful that was the extent of the Hallowe'en pranks.

DON'T BE A HOARDER

Many people, despite Pearl Harbor, Bataan and Corregidor apparently still refuse to believe we are at war or to recognize the fact that being in a state of war will call for many sacrifices on the part of the citizens as a whole.

Evidence of this has been given in the past few days as people flocked to grocery stores to purchase all the coffee they could get for hoarding against coffee rationing, which goes into effect November 29.

Those who are hoarding coffee—or any other rationed items—are economic traitors to the nation.

Rationing is a democratic process for seeing that everyone, regardless of station or wealth, gets an equal share. By hoarding ,that democratic process is upset. Those who have the money can exhaust the supplies before rationing becomes effective, leaving little or none, even after rationing for those who were financially unable to compete with them.

Under rationing, everyone is entitled to an equal share, at an equal price. It is not only a step against profiteering but a step to see that everyone gets an even break.

The thing to remember is that America is a democracy, that the other fellow is entitled to just as much as you are.

It can't be a democracy if a selfish few take advantage of certain situations to make things easier for themselves and harder for their fellow-man. Hoarding is taking advantage of one of those situations. Show that you are a true American. Don't be a hoarder.

VOTE YES ON NO. 1

Of recent date there has arisen considerable confusion over how to vote on proposition No. 1—the hot cargo issue.

Surveys taken throughout the state have shown a heavy mairity against hot cargo and the secondary boycott but many people think a "No" vote is the way to get rid of these iniquities.

Proposition No. 1 is a referendum on a law already passed by the legislature. A "Yes" vote puts the law into effect. A "No" vote keeps it from going into effect.

The proposed law would ban hotcargo and the secondary boycott. Therefore, a "Yes" vote is what is needed to keep these two unfair tools of labor from interefering with the war effort.

The measure is of wartime urgency. We must keep our production of war materials at a high level. Secondary boycotts, which spread labor disputes from industry to industry, will hamper production. Vote "Yes" on proposition No. 1.

"Even though Rome went the way of peoples who stumble upon a get-rich-quick period, and leave the riff-raff to bear most of the children, we can learn some lessons from her," declares Dr. Arthur Patch McKinlay, professor of Latin emeritus at the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

Dr. McKinlay praises the Romans as having the knack of getting along with peoples, especially in the adjustment of legal problems as they arose.

"If we could apply this experience of Rome to the economic phase of our life we might succeed in carrying on for more of the thousand years Rome lived than now seems likely.

"The early Romans were actuated by certain Stoic tenets: Piety—not long-faced, but doing your duty by your immediate group; Justice—learning to get along with those not of the immediate group as well as with your fellows; Temperance—learning to get along with yourself; lastly, a kind of horse sense which keeps these three principles from being mere abstract dogmas. Romans called it sapience."

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder when a bit of news
Is doled out as a ration,
If we may cull the deadly facts
From some strange Jap station.

I wonder if it wasn't silly for the reserved gentlemen of the War Department to deceive us about that Tokio raid. They might have known that the Japs would spill the beans and they should have known that Americans would rather hear the war news, whether good or ill, from Washington than from Japan.

I wonder how long it will take us to digest and assimilate Mr. Willkie's account of his trip around the great circle. It seemed to be a sincere and concise revelation of conditions as they appeared to his questing eyes and as such deserve serious attention of those who are interested in world affairs and the outcome of the war.

My first reactions were those of pleasure at the improvement in Mr. Wilkie's voice, diction and manner of address; these are not non-essentials in the equipment of any public speaker.

It appears, that while the allies are looking to America for the sinews of war, they are also looking the lend-lease horse in the mouth. Were the criticisms voiced by Mr. Willkie altogether merited- It should be remembered, America is a young nation—a giant to be sure, but still a youngster. These big allied nations were aged and hoary before America was born. They had risen to dizzy heights of civilization and power, fallen and risen again, many times long before Columbus went a-sailing.

These old world nations might have established peace, order and decency in their respective continents hundreds of years ago—they might have made it impossible for any coterie of mad beasts to disrupt the processes of advancement—but they didn't.

Despite her youth, America has acquired the art of living peaceably with her neighbors and from Canada to the Argentine, this continent is enjoying the benefits of liberty and its attendant blessings. We are in sympathy with the nations of the old world. They are our respected allies and those "revervoirs of good will" must of course, be kept intact. The nations across the seas, having wasted the long years of their existence in bickering and deadly sttrife, now look to America for a panacea for their ills, and America will not be found wanting.

America is being forced into a position of leadership which is fraught with heavy burdens of responsibility and this war, which is a product of old world inefficiency, is engaging us in deadly strife. We have a two ocean fight on our hands; both of which are in our own defense and our guns, ships and planes have gone to the four corners of the earth.

In a measure I resent the criticisms voiced by Mr. Willkie and I hope he told those who repeated them to him, to give America time. We have been in the war less than a year, and considering that fact and all that has been required of her, America has done exceedingly well. She will improve her war like activities as time goes on, but please remember that she is young and war has never been to her, an art, a sport or a desirable business.

As for Mr. Willkie, he is a fine, brave gentleman and one from whom we shall hear freqnently in the decades to come. He has proved th truth of Kipling's lines—

"There is neither east nor west, border nor breed nor birth,
When two strong men meet face to face, though they come from the ends of the earth."—A. Merriam Conner.

NEWS IN RHYME

Written by Harley M. Leete, Jr.

Christmas time's still far away,
But plans are being made,
To do things long before the day,
So Santa's not delayed.

This year the good man's traveling light,
For few are metal toys.
But there'll be enough, despite our fight,
For all our girls and boys.

Most playthings are made of wood,
For sturdy iron and steel,
Have vital jobs, it's understood,
To serve our commonweal.
The war unfortunately, enters in,
Even into children's play,
And they will childish battles win,
Right after Christmas Day.

At midget bombers, they shout with glee,
And anti-aircraft are an item,
And the pursuit planes, buzzing like a bee,
Delight the kids who fight 'em.

Toy soldiers will march again like mad,
But those "Made in Japan" are out—
And their real-life replicas, cruel and bad,
Now march to their finish, no doubt.

Dad used to get the biggest kick
Out of play with Junior's train,
But now there's none to turn the trick,
For father's childish brain.

Electric trains are out, you see,
But still we'll keep aburning,
The cheery lights of the Christmas tree,
As long as kids are yearning.

The toys and even Christmas Day,
Are different, much, this year,
But let this fact give none dismay,
We still hold Christmas dear.

IMPORTANT WAR WORK

THE DAYS of Dad and his easy chair, pipe and slippers are gone for the duration. He is part of the home team and idle hours are few. He may grumble a bit that Monday is washday, Tuesday is ironing, Wednesday is dusting, Thursday is window-washing, Friday is vacuum cleaning, Saturday is scrubbing floors. He may grunt a bit and complain but he'll pitch-in and help.

Keeping a home and its furnishings in good condition and repair is important war work. With household help very scarce or unobtainable a heavy burden of work is going to be placed on household appliances. Use these appliances normally but keep them cleaned and oiled and in good repair. Have them checked and fixed-up at the first indication of trouble. There is an authorized appliance repair dealer in your community who will keep your mechanical servants Duration-ized with timely repair. Call him when you need him.

SOLDIERS CHOW HEARTENING TO MOTHER AND DAD

Even though Secretary of War Stimson has banned Thanksgiving and Christmas furloughs for our men in training with the armed forces, there will be no lack of the royal bird, with all the trimmings for Johnny Doughboy, both home and abroad. He'll feast, royally.

So declare spokesmen for the California Quartermaster Depot, the School for Cooks and Bakers at the Presidio of San Francisco, and the Quartermaster Marketing Center, of San Francisco. And they should know, for with these units the worlds best food for the world's best fighting men is not incidental. It's serious business.

How does the food shortage in certain commodities, which many housewives may notice today, affect the ration of a soldier of the United States Army? Is he eating as well today as he did a year ago? Will his Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners actually include "fancies" as well as "standards" on the menus? How—and why?

If you are one who demands that the t's be crossed and the i's dotted, as to quantities and places, then you will be disappointed in these observations on army chow for the holidays. For obviously, if the Quartermaster Corps of the army tells you the "how much" and "where," other eyes—unfriendly ones on either side of the ocean—might deduce with reasonable accuracy data of military values to our enemies.

Food Excellence Remains High

But these facts you may know, and heartening they should be to every mother and dad whose son is doing his valient bit today in the armed service of his country:

Turkey for Thanksgiving and Christmas, with all the trimmings, will be for our troops overseas, irrespective of their stations. Irrespective of any shortages in the commercial markets, our soldiers today are eating fully as well, or better than was the case a year ago.

Fresh milk, fresh eggs, fresh butter, even more pastry are "standard" at all posts and camps here at home. Abroad, the dehydrated variety frequently replaces the fresh ones available here, but with flavor, palatability, vitamin content and nourtshing qualities mighty high.

Getting back to the home front, the average army mess today serves even more fresh produce than was the ease a year ago, due to the huge demand for the shipment of canned, dehydrated and condensed foods to our units overseas.

Quartermaster "Shops Early"

The Quartermaster Corps emphatically plans far ahead. Piecemeal buying and day-to-day marketing are not in any book of today's world's greatest provider of food: the Quartermaster Corps of the United States Army.

Shortages that may confront commercial channels today, whether they be temporary or possibly for the duration, present no insurmountable hurdles to the Quartermaster Corps, for the very cogent reason that in many cases these circumstances were anticipated many months ago and plans laid accordingly.

What will the boys eat Thanksgiving and Christmas? All right, you asked for it! Don't blame us, if your mouth waters! Just cast an eye down these menus, and then ask yourself if your finest hotel could do better?

PHIL SCADDEN'S FRIENDS URGE HIS ELECTION

At the polls tomorrow, friends of Phil Scadden confidently predict he will be elected County Assessor by a comfortable majority. This result of the voting, they say, will be due in major part to the fact that among all the candidates for county office his campaign has been outstanding for the high plane on which it has been conducted. Only the facts of his own record for integrity in long public service, his ability in that service, and his experience in dealing with the public, both as postmaster for several terms in Nevada City, and as Deputy County Assessor for the past five years, have been urged as a reason for electing him to succeed J. M. Hammill, now retiring, in the office of County Assessor.

While the primary election proved that in his own native city he stood high in esteem of his fellow citizens, it also demonstrated that his service in the assessor's office during the past five years has enlarged the number of friends who have been willing to take off their coats and work to elect him. In every community he has won the confidence, respect and friendship of citizens by his fair dealing and sympathetic consideration of their tav problebs.

In unselfish service in unpaid civil posts that many citizens, who are well qualified to fill but for personal reasons do not accept, Phil Scadden began his apprenticeship in public service. There are many who remember that in his younger days, when fire hazards were much higher than they are today. Phil Scadden was one of the most energetic and capable of fire chiefs. They also recall that when he was on the city council he served the city with the same zeal and integrity that he demonstrated as a business man in private life.

When he became postmaster he rapidly augmented the circle of friends that today are making a county canvass in behalf of his candidacy. The fact that he has served in the post of Deputy County Assessor, maintaining the high standard that has marked the administration of Assessor J. M. Hammill for many years, his friends believe entitles him now to a promotion to the office of County Assessor. These friends invite the attention of all voters to Mr. Scadden's record and urge his election on that record.

September Gas Taxes In 15 Percent Drop

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 2.—A leveling off in the recent reduction in gasoline taxes was indicated today with the announcement of September returns compiled by the State Board of Equalization.

According to R. E. Collins, board chairman, the September tax, assessed against the sale of 164,456,489 gallons, amounted to $4,833,684.71, or 10.77 per cent under the assessments for the same month of the previous year. In recent months the average has amounted to approximately 15 per cent.

The Sept. assessments brought the total for the first nine month period up to $43,470,412.15, as compared with $47,311,479.99 for the same period of 1941.

Last month's income also was slightly below the $4,921,323.83 reported for August.

NINE GOOD REASONS

WHY YOU—MR. AND MRS. VOTER—SHOULD RE-ELECT

TOBIASSEN

Sheriff of Nevada County

1 Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen has served Nevada County proudly as its leading peace officer for eight years, never once betraying the faith of the electors.

2 Since his election to office in 1934 the duties of Nevada County Sheriff have increased four-fold. He has faced and solved more serious problems than any other sheriff of this county.

3 He has met every emergency with cool courage and sound judgment. He has played no favorites. The most humble has received the same treatment as the highest.

4 Sheriff Tobiassen and his deputies are "graduates" of several schools of criminology conducted by the state of California and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The Sheriff and his deputies KNOW law abidance and how to preserve it!

5 Sheriff Tobiassen was the first official in Nevada County to sponsor Civilian Defense and organized the first Defense Council in this County. He also organized the Nevada County Posse Reserve and his organization, with his Civilian Defense Plan has met with the approval of Federal, State and Military authorities as the best protection plan known in the nation.

6 Sheriff Tobiassen knows the whereabouts and the activities of every alien in the county. He is guarding our homes and families. No matter what the emergency here is a man that can act in a split second!

7 Sheriff Tobiassen has handled some of the most hardened criminals known to state and federal authorities. He works hand-in-hand with the FBI. He is known up and down the state by leading peace officers who respect and admire him.

8 Third term? YES! This is no time to change! The man who knows the law problems of this critical period should be kept in office.

9 He was elected by a large majority in 1934 — the LARGEST majority any county candidate received in 1938—LET'S MAKE IT A LANDSLIDE IN '42!
